Great families aren't perfect – but they're authentic, well-connected and growing in faith. In this workshop you'll learn a framework of four timeless biblical principles for building strong relationships and anchoring your family in God's grace and truth.

Don't wait for the storms of life or the strong currents of cultural influence to shipwreck your family. You can become an insightful, proactive parent, despite today's frantic pace. Parents consistently tell us these four principles stick with them for years and change the course of their family forever.
